27th April - 2nd May 2013
Kyokushin-karate Spring Camp
in Croatia

This year, for the 10th time, there will be a Spring Camp in Croatia. Like last year in Samobor en surroundings (about 20 km from Zagreb).

The camp is open to all practitioners of Kyokushin-karate as from white belts.

Youth is also welcome under accompaniment of a parent/attendand.

Non-karateka's

Also the non karateka's are most welcome again and do not need to be bored. Karate activities are always combined with activities for non-karateka's (if they want to, of course). Think of walks, hiking, excursions and sightseeing. Further there are combined activities with the sportspeople.

Surroundings

Samobor is a town in the Croatian province Zagreb with a population of abt. 37,500 inhabitants. It is located west of Zagreb, between the eastern slopes of the Samobor hills (Croatian: Samoborsko gorje) in the eastern part of Zumberak Mountain, in the Sava River valley. It is part of the metropolis around Zagreb.

Samobor has existed as a free royal town since 1242, according to a document of endowment by King Bela IV.

It is one of the earliest tourist resorts in the region, with the first tourist facilities dating back to 1810, catering to anglers, hunters and hikers.
